A committee was present from the Central Trades council, composed of Louis Goaziou and John Oates, requesting the co-operation of the Business Men's Association in securing the annual convention of the Pittsburg District, United Mine Workers for Charleroi in February of 1915. Action taken was to the effect that the chair appoint a committee to cooperate with the one from the Trades Council.

Matters pertaining to grades of certain streets leading to the hill district were brought to the attention of the association, and action was taken that a committee ascertain if anything could be done in that direction by interviewing council, the two principal streets mentioned being Third on Ninth streets.

EVIDENCE MUST BE CORROBORATED

Judge McIlvaine Explains in Regard to Testimony of Detectives

THINKS THEM EXPERTS

The annual session of license court came to an end yesterday forenoon, with the exception of the completion of the hearing of the application of John Turner of Stockdale, which was postponed until Saturday. The court wanted Turner to appear yesterday, when his case would be disposed of but the latter could not be located. Thomas Noble of New Eagle and Conrad Ault of West Brownsville were the two applicants before the court yesterday and the case of William Zellers of the Hotel Charleroi was completed.

Detectives employed by the Anti-Saloon League has testified tha liquor was sold to men while intoxicated at different times in the Hotel Charleroi. The attorneys for Mr. Zellers asked for a continuation of the case in order to conteract this testimony. This was granted, and some of the witnesses cited by the dectectives appeared and denied that they were intoxicated or had bought liquor at the Hotel Charleroi at the specified times. Mr. Zellers' attorney objected to the testimony of the detectives being given any weight, and Judge McIlvaine said:

"The Court places detectives in the same category as paid experts and we will not believe their testimony unless it is corroborated. We think it is proper that detectives should be used but they should discover facts, then prove them by some one else."

It is expected that Judge McIlvaine will likely hand down his decision today.

The Protected Home Circle Juvenile Minstrels, under direction of Frank B. Taylor and A. B. Houseman will be given tonight at the P. H. C. hall. Mr. Taylor will be interlocutor. The minstrels will be one of a series of entertainments being given by the P. H. C. Last Friday was fraternal night.

WARMTH LOOKED FOR IN FIGHT

Twenty-Fourth District to be Scene of Hot Battle This Spring

PENROSE MAY BE ISSUE

There's going to be some hot politics in the Twenty-fourth congressional district. Composed of the counties of Washington, Beaver and Lawrence the way things are beginning to shape up. In conformity with the national plans of the Republican party to wrest, if possible, the control of congress form the Democrats this fall a determined fight is to be made in every district not now represented in the house by a Republican. While the Twenty-fourth district is not represented by a Democrat it has as its representative a Progressive, Dr. H. W. Temple of Washington, who is not numbered among those in congress who can be counted upon to support all measures approved and outlined by the party caucus. So naturally the Twenty-fourth district is one of the battle grounds for the campaign.

This fight will be all the more interesting from the fact that the Republican party in the district—what remains of it—is not at all united, but is divided on the Penrose and anti-Penrose issue. Already arrangements have been made for launching a candidate entirely in harmony with the Penrose following in the state. This is former Lieut Gov. Brown of Beaver, who has been slated to make the contest for the Republican nomination in the district as a Penrose candidate. Mr. Brown is said to be Senator Penrose's personal choice after a careful consideration of the situation. Each of the other counties may have a candidate, but the Penrose forces will concentrate on the candidacy of Brown.

Already there is an Anti-Penrose candidate for the Republican nomination in the field. This is Charles H. Stone of Beaver, who has officially announced his candidacy, and he is understood to be an Anti-Penrose candidate. It is possible that both Washington and Lawrence counties may develop an Anti-Penrose candidate, in which case Brown's nomination would be practically assured.

The real fight, however, will come in the fall at the general election, when there will be a three cornered contest. It is expected that Dr. Temple will again be accorded the Progressive nomination, and will make an aggressive campaign. This gives the Democratic party a fighting chance in the district, and it is probable that the contest will attract the attention and aid of the Democratic national committee.

This situation practically assures a hot contest at both the primary and the general election and some interesting politics will develop on the congressional situation. Great stress will be laid on national issues in the campaign for United States senator and congress, in order to obscure local and state issue which figure in the nomination and election of state legislators and officials who really have no bearing or influence on national policies or issues.

GIRL SUFFERS BUT ONLY FROM FRIGHT

Telephone Central Thinks She Was Attacked; Evidence Shows Not

MERELY HALLUCINATION

Miss Irene Snyder, aged 21, a well known Monongahela girl is in a serious condition as the result of a bad fright she had when going to her work at the P. R. R train dispatcher's office in Elrama between 7 and 8 o'clock Thursday evening. Thinking she was being pursued by a large, burly man the girl wandered to near the river shore so as she thought escape and then in trying to return fell exhausted. She is being cared for at the home of Superintendent Hendershot of the Sunnyside distillery today.

Miss Snyder was in her way to her work, when a strange man approached and as she thought accosted her. She fled, thinking he was pursuing. Fear only lent speed to her footsteps and she ran unknowingly towards the river, through snow and dampness. At the river bank, she became aware apparently of her whereabouts and turned back, probably still under the impression that she was being followed. Then she dropped exhausted.

At 7:30 o'clock Superintendent Hendershot of the Sunnyside distillery was pasing through his yard at Elrama when he came upon the prostrate form of Miss Snyder. He carried the girl into his house and a doctor was summonel. She was unconscious for several hours, and even this morning was not able to talk coherently. The doctor said she showed no evidences of any attack having been made upon her, in spite of the fact that in her disordered state of mind, she seemed firmly convinced that she had been attacked and cruelly mistreated.

Railroad officers busied themselves on the case. This morning they ascertained by footprints in the snow she had not been followed, her footprints being the only ones that showed. The girl apparently suffered from a peculiar hallucination that made her hysterical and a nervous wreck.

TRADES COUNCIL WANTS CONVENTION OF MINERS HERE

In addition to appointing a committee at its last meeting to wait upon the Business Men's Association to ask the influence of the latter to use its offices in securing the meeting of the district miners' convention in Charleroi in 1915, the Central Labor Trades Council also appointed a councilmanic committee. This committee is to attend the meetings of council in order that the Trades Council may become better acquainted with the proceedings of the former body. Preparations are being made for the coming of President Maurer of the State Federation of Labor, who will deliver an address at the Coyle Theatre on the night of February 18.

BIG DELEGATION FROM CHARLEROI VISITS PITTSBURG

One of the largest delegations that ever represented Charleroi at any event in Pitsburg Thursday visited the plant of the H. J. Heinz company and in the evening attended the Billy Sunday meeting in the Bellefield tabernacle. There were approximately 200 persons in the delegation.

Leaving at noon time, the party arrived in Pittsburg at about 2 o'clock and were out to the Heinz plant, to view processes of packing products for which the company is famed. A picture of the group was taken. In the evening the members of the Charleroi party heard Billy Sunday preach. L. C. Weer was the party manager, he being a representative of the Heinz company. The return trip was made ariving home at about midnight.

PASSES LEGAL ON RAILROADS

Public Service Commission Gives Ruling for Families of Employes

POLICEMEN GO FREE

The public service commission Thursday ruled that railroad companies may issue passes to their officers and employes to be used for the transportation of the dependent members of the families of such officers and employes. The ruling is strengthened by the declaration that the granting of these concessions will not be regarded by the commission as a violation of the provisions of the public service law.

It is also ruled that the free transportation furnished by common carriers to policemen and firemen in the discharge of their public duties is not such free transportation as is prohibited by the provisions of the law.

The commission did not pass upon the questions regarding reduced rates for clergymen nor did it dispose of several other propositions of a kindred nature concerning rates and fares.

Gov. Tener's public statement that there was no sound reason why passes for members of the families of officers and employes should not be issued inspired the railroad people with the belief that the long-standing custom which ended January 1 would be restored and the action of the commission in favortaly disposing of the question after giving it thorough consideration was expected.

JUDGE M'ILVAINE WILL NOT ACCEPT

Washington County Jurist Declines to be Superior Court Judge

TELEGRAPHS GOVERNOR

President Judge J. A. McIlvaine of the Washington county courts last evening declined the appointment to the state superior bench to succeed the late General James A. Beaver, whose death occurred Saturday. The position was tendered to the jurist yesterday afternoon by Governor John K. Tener. Soon after receiving the tender Judge McIlvaine wired Gov. Tener stating it would be impossible for him to accept.

In speaking of the offer last evening Judge McIlvaine said that he very keenly appreciated the honor done him and stated that he was very grateful to Governor Tener.

"I feel, however," continued the judge, "that I am too old a man to accept the appointment. The appointment is for ten months and the man accepting it would naturally be a candidate for election next November. I feel it would be an imposition upon the people of the state for a man past 70 years of age to go before them as a candidate for an office with a ten years' term. In addition to that consideration I feel it would not be fair to myself to accept this appointment to the superior bench when I am under contract for four years yet with the people of Washington county.

"I am also led to decline this honor by the requests of friends who within the past day or so have come to me and urged me to remain in the Washington county courts."

Judge McIlvaine is all the more honored from the fact that he was not an applicant for the place, and the tender of the appointment is a fitting recognition of his high judicial attainments. The appointment, however, would be only for the year. The successor to Judge Beaver will be chosen at the November election, and the primaries for the nomination of candidates will be held in May. The appointee, who would undoubtedly be a candidate for the election, would have to contest for both the nomination and the election.

When it became known that Judge McIlvaine was being considered for the appointment, a number of Washington attorneys and citizens called on him and urged him to decline and remain on the Washington county bench. His present term of office was extended two years by the new election laws and he will serve until 1917. He has ben on the Washington county bench since 1886, having been elected in November, 1885. He was re-elected in 1895 and again in 1905.

A NOVEL UNIVERSITY

With a view of supplying trained men for public service generally, and for city and town managers in particular, the Bureau of Municipal Research in New York is conducting what it terms a "Training School for Public Service." Its object is to supply trained men in municipal work in particular as managers for the various cities and towns throughout the United States which have the commission form of government or the power to select a business manager for his qualifications rather than as a political reward. This is one of the most novel universities in the world, but it is destined to wield an important influence in the future.

This university is trying to train and equip bright, alert young men who have the proper educational qualifications to specially serve as mayors and controllers of cities and towns and for school superintendents. There is a demand already for men of this type, and this demand is growing rapidly. A recent example is where the city of Dayton, Ohio, offered the position of city manager to Col. Goethals of Panama canal fame, and failing in that secured the services of the experienced city engineer of Cincinnati. New York city is dragnetting the country to get men for trained city department work, while Milwaukee, Pittsburg, Minneapolis, Washington and other large cities have seen the need for school superintendents to adapt school work to community needs and opportunities. Cities and towns from the states which have adopted progressive forms of government are calling for men trained in budget analysis, road supervision, accounting and health and school work.

So urgent has been the need of experienced road supervisors in our own state that the State Highway Department has recently instituted a school of instruction to supply the deficiency. One of the reasons why the recent bond issue failed to carry in the state for road improvement was because of the mistakes made in the preliminary work of the state highway department, chiefly because of the lack of trained and efficient men to supervise the work. This sort of help does not exist in sufficient volume for a extended part of the year it pays to be developed.

The part of the trained worker in public service is going to broaden rapidly as the people eliminate politics from their municipal affairs and establish the management on a purely business basis. Col. Goethals has set a pattern at Panama as to what can be done in public efficiency when politics and graft are eliminated, and the same plan is going to prevail in the near future in the cities and towns of this country.

POSSIBLE PLANKS

Advices from high political circles in Philadelphia are to the effect that submission of the woman suffrage and prohibition to the voters as amendments to the constitution of Pennsylvania may be planks in the platform of the Republican party of the state. Leading men of the party, appreciating the demands of the women, as well as the sentiment against the liquor traffic, have been discussing the advisability of embodying both of these things in the party platform.

The platform under the new rules, will be written before the primary by a committee appointed by Senator William E. Crow, Republican state chairman. After the nominations, if precedents prevailing in other States where statewide primaries have existed are followed, the nominees will write a further platform.

Some of the prominent Republicans, who have had under discussion woman suffrage and liquor planks, say that the party leaders can no longer stand against the widespread sentiment favoring the principle of referendum. For that reason advisers have told the party managers that submission to the voters of these amendments must be in the platform. In order to win the Republican party must get close to the people and specific live issues for party principles must give way to platitudes and "glittering generalities."

PICKED UP IN PASSING

An interested visitor at one of the Billy Sunday meetings in Pittsburg this week was J. Dawson Callery, president of the Pittsburg Railways company, who occupied a prominent seat on the platform. Asked as to his opinion of the effects of the meetings, Mr. Callery said in effect:

"I could not help but be convinced that the meetings are productive of great good from one fact alone that has come to my notice, and that is the return of 'conscience money' to our company."

Mr. Callery related how two former conductors of the company who professed conversion at the tabernacle meetings had returned voluntarily money which they said they had appropriated while in the employ of the company. In one case the amount returned was 50c. In the other it was $1.67.

T. A. McNary, cashier of the Citizens' National bank of Bellevue, wrote Mr. Sunday, saying that one of the bank's customers had reported receiving $15 from a former employe who wrote that he had been converted by "Billy" and wanted to get square. The business man did not know until he received the $15 that his former employe had been dishonest.

At a school in Germantown, this state, a recent test examination for the all around knowledge of the student was given and some of the answers to the series of questions propounded that were culled from the written papers are amusing. Some of them were as follows:

"What is a semaphore? Ans. A boy in his second year at college.

"What is raw water" How are its dangers averted? Ans. By not drinking it.

"Who was Martin Luther? Ans. A Methodist minister who wrote hymns.

"Name the American Ambassador to Great Britain. Ans. Mrs. Pankhurst.

"Who is William Sulzer? Ans. Running for president of Mexico."

PURPORTED OATH UNTRUE ADMITS ITS CIRCULATORS

Charles Mezo (col. of Forty-third and Brown streets, Philadelphia, who passed last spring circulars purporting to carry an oath taken by the knights of Columbus, pleaded guilty Friday to charges of libel and conspiracy to libel the order. C. H. Stage, of Forty-second street and Lancaster avenue, Philadelphia who distributed the circulars, offered no defense to the charges.

Sentence was suspended in both cases, after Joseph P. Gaffney, counsel for the order, told Judge Wilson the Knights felt they had been vindicated by the pleas of the defendants, and had no desire to punish them further.

James A. Flaherty, supreme knight of the order, began prosecution of the pair after thousands of circulars had been distributed broadcast in the city. The "oath" was couched in the most revolting language and was furnished to Megonigel by the Menace, an anti-Catholic publication at Aurora, Mo.

Counsel for the defendants read to the court a letter sent to him by the Menace in which it admitted the "oath" had no foundation in fact. The letter follows:

"We wish to state that we are not in possession of the ritual and secret work of the Knights of Columbus. The alleged oath which your clients in Philadelphia were arrested for distributing was circulated in practically every state during the last campaign, and the demand upon us for the document was something great.

"We had received copies of them from so many sources, we simply printed and handled them as we would any other job of printing, to supply the demand and while we have no apologies to make for doing so we do not have any evidence that the oath is one which is taken by the Knights of Columbus.

"We feel sure it would be folly for you to undertake to base your defense on the authenticity of this document."

Judge Wilson, addressing counsel for the Knights, said:

"It is a very proper action on your part to relieve any doubt that may exist in the minds of other persons concerning the allegations contained in the alleged 'oath.' I realize that your church is doing a great good in the country and community and I do not think it at all strange that members desire to be relieved of the opprobrium which would properly be ascribed to them in case the allegations were believed to be so.

"While I am not a member of your faith, I have no prejudice, either in heart or intention; and from my personal knowledge of Mr. Flaherty, I should not readily believe that he would subscribe to any such oath or document."

Mr. Flaherty said the purpose of the "oath" was to stir up strife and breed religious bigotry. "It was so persistently circulated," he said, "that the Knights of Columbus were compelled to take some steps to refute it, and we thought criminal prosecution would be the best way to do it."

AMONG THE THEATRES

PALACE—CHARLEROI

In the weekly review of the shows at the Palace the predominating feature this week, as is usual every week is vaudeville. True on Monday night there was a big picture feature "Victory or Death," but considering the interest the vaudeville features were probably the best. Heading the list of attractions Hazel Brown and Charles Barrows appeared in "The Girl and the Pearl," a neat comedy sketch. In this sketch a new song hit of Mr. Mack's and Mr. Barrows is introduced the title being, "The Ever Loving Southern Home." Skipper and Miller, billed as the "Boys from Song Land" appeared in their new melange of music, wit and song and gave a neat act. The Petite Sisters presented a neat performance of artistic singing and dancing. All the attractions were good. The featuring film of "Victory or Death" on Monday night was one of the best Manager Barnhart ever had at his theatre.

THE COYLE—CHARLEROI

With the talented actress Laura Sawyer in the leading feminine characterization, one of the featuring attractions this week at the Coyle theatre was "A Daughter of the Hills" a tale with an ancient setting but an up-to-date thrill. The film was interesting because of the historical setting, in addition to the beautiful tale unfolded of the conquest of a savage heart by a gentle love. On Thursday of this week at the Coyle was produced a sensatonal drama. "Over Niagara Falls." The scenic effects were unusual, and demonstrated the superiority in many respects of the photoplay drama for effect over the legitimate drama. The play includes everything that is necessary to a good thrill, which means among other things quick action. The sight of a girl going over Niagara Falls in a barrel as shown in the picture is one not likely to be forgotten soon. Manager Coyle has a good list of pictures for the coming week.

LYRIC—CHARLEROI

One of the best photoplays of this week at the Lyric theatre was a special Essanay feature in two parts on Monday, in which the old friend of moving-picture goers—none other than the inimitable Alkala Ike—appeared in the stellar role. The title of the film was "The Awakening at Snakeville." On Wednesday there was a good feature in "The Stigma," in which a story of the sea was related and a tale of love happily blended. The Pathe Weekly was a feature of the Wednesday program and also there was included a comedy, "Two Fathers" and a Biograph picture, "The Abandoned Well." On Thursday "The Master of the Garden" a special two-part Selig picture narrating a story of the downfall of a girl and her subsequent salvation from her life of sin. On Saturday night will be shown "The Fatal Shot" a Kalem picture in two parts. It is described as a most interesting drama.

THE STAR—CHARLEROI

Picturing events of a decided American institution, the divorce scandal, a photoplay was produced at the Star theatre this week that ranked among the prime features of the whole week. The title was "The Divorce Scandal." On Monday night together with this neat film was shown, "For Another's Crime," in two parts. There were three featuring attractions on Tuesday night in "Trapped in a Forest Fire, "Milkman's Revenge" and "The Girls of the Hills." On Wednesday there was a beautiful story unfolded in "Romance and Duty," in two reels, and another one narrated of much interest in "Ride for a Bride" that had its unusual situations and peculiarities that make it intensely interesting. In two parts "The Frame-Up" was exhibited on Thursday night, together with "Beauty Parlor Graduate." Both were good photoplays.

THE ALVIN—PITTSBURG

Unusual scenic magnificence, girls prettier and more gorgeously gowned than in any preceding Winter Garden attraction, and a cast of singers, dancers and comedians who are sure to become local favorites are the big features of "The Passing Show of 1913," which opens a week's engagement at the Alvin Monday. From the first scene in the brief prologue, showing the tired business man seeking relaxation from the cares of everyday life, to the final picture in the Oriental suffraget harem, the fun wakes fast and furious. The company is one of the best of many seasons and includes Conroy and Le Maire, inimitable blackface comedians, Charles and Mollie King, dancers an dsingers par excellence; Elizabeth Goodall, a favorite comedienne; Swan Wood, the Oriental dancer; Laura Hamilton, Whiting and Burt, popularizers of popular songs; De Haven and Nice, Louise Eates, a statuesque prima donna; Mae Dealey, Henry Norman, Johnny Johnson, Artie Mehlinger and Ernest Hare.

The average man finds it hard work earning his salary and if he is not saving any of it there must be an additional sense of hardship, for "A farthing saved is twice earned." FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

John W. Skillen of Sidney, Ohio, Has Found a Remedy.

Experts declare that the reason stomach disorders are so common in this country is due to hasty and careless habits of eating. Stomach troubles and run-down conditions usually go together.

John W. Skillen of Sidney, Ohio, says: "I had stomach trouble for years, and became so weak that I could hardly walk or do any work. My appetite was poor, and it seemed impossible to get any relief. Since taking 'Vinol' I find a remarkable improvement in my health, my digestion is much stronger, and I have gained in weight. I would not be without Vinol."

Vinol makes weak stomachs strong because it strengthens and tones up the weakened tired and overtaxed nerves of the digestive organs. Vinol is easily assimilated by the weakest stomachs, and is delicious to the taste.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Piper Bros., Druggists, Charleroi. Pa.

Check the Symptoms of Lung Trouble

One of the many reasons why Lung Trouble is so difficult to fight is because the disease is often of a very flattering nature. The patient may look well, but in reality is fast losing strength by continued night sweats, fever and cough. These symptoms should be checked as quickly as possible. Eckman's Alterative is beneficial in checking fever and night sweats and it has brought about many complete recoveries. Read this case:—

305 W. 26th St., New York.

"Gentlemen: I am writing you this testimonial that others may know what your Alterative has done for me. Since I was a very young woman I was a sufferer from Bronchitis. I tried doctor after doctor, getting little or no benefit. Finally I had night sweats, weak spells and lost rapidly in weight and my doctor told me if they were not checked I would have Lung Trouble. Miss Mary Korhamer, who is a friend of mine, recovered after taking your Alterative and insisted that I try it. I am now, after two years, perfectly well, strong and healthy."

(Affidavit). MRS. ROSA VOELPEL.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.
